Cost effective presentation solutions for architects, designers, & developers

We're experienced. We're detail oriented. And we're ready to do everything in our power to make sure your presentation has the impact and wow factor it needs to get results. Whether you're looking for architectural scale models, 3D fly-throughs, 2D images or help with that all too important marketing presentation, KoDesign adds dimension, passion and value to every project we work on.

The KoDesign difference

As an agile partner, we're always ready to hit the ground running. We know that timelines are a big deal to you, so naturally they're a big deal to us too. As a hands on company, we have the ability to deliver highly crafted, accurate and cost effective models and presentations on time, every time. That's a big part of our business model. With over fifteen years experience working with architects and developers ranging in size, KoDesign has gained great insight and skills. This enables us to deliver finely crafted work, whether we're creating something from scratch, or simply enhancing your existing files. And with a competitive hourly rate, there are no surprises down the line. You simply get what you pay for. Every time.
